CDISC Values

Based upon Principles from The Economy of Communion

Posted March 2009
“Work bears a particular mark of man and of humanity, the mark of a person operating within a community of persons.”

– Eleanor Roosevelt
EoC Common Principles for Managing Businesses

- Business Leadership and Workers; Work with Excellence
- Communications; Regular Company Updates; Encourage Input Without Penalty
- Relationships; Friendly, Professional Relationships; Respect Others
- Development; Training and Education; Mentor Lavishly; Risk in New Ideas
- Ethics; Mutuality – No Separation between Individual and Business Principles
- Quality of Life and Production; Work should be Balanced
- Environment; Harmony with the Working Environment; Organize Structures Harmoniously
CDISC – Core Value

Foster an understanding that the CDISC community is an altruistic organization contributing to the advancement of global healthcare.
CDISC – Leadership

- We formulate strategies, goals and decisions prudently, considering external input and appropriate criteria for properly managing CDISC.
- We inspire and stimulate others to achieve our worthwhile goals.
- We strive to make the best use of each individual’s talents, encouraging innovation and creativity, assumption of responsibility, and participation in defining and realizing the CDISC strategy and goals.
- We use a cooperative leadership style; we allow our co-workers to participate and aid, expressing their opinion in making decisions.
CDISC – Relationships

• Continue to build ‘relationship capital’ leading to a more stable and resilient economic growth, less sensitive to the fluctuations of the marketplace
• Strengthen good, sincere and respectful relations with the CDISC community; take pride in being valuable members of the global healthcare and the medical research community
• Superb value for contributions made
• Foster RICH relationships with respect, integrity, compassion and humility.
  • Respect for others’ values, time and ideals.
  • Integrity – global integrity to include morals, ethics and honesty.
  • Compassion and empathy for the whole community.
  • Humility to improve the welfare and happiness of the community.
CDISC – Ethics

- CDISC behaves ethically, morally and legally in all of its endeavors.
- Ensure CDISC is a benefit to society, above personal gain, and has consistency between work and personal ethics.
- Bring strength (clarity and focus) and impartiality in standards development activities.
CDISC – Quality of Life and Productivity

- Foster a community to stimulate innovation and growth in maturity and productivity.
- The health and well-being of every individual is important; work should be balanced with an individual’s personal life.
- Strive to provide a joyful and friendly work environment.
- Have a positive impact on the quality of life of society.
CDISC – Harmony with Environment

- The business applies management systems and organizational structures that foster teamwork.
- Continue to encourage and respect a harmonious structure based on teams and an environment of concentric communities that interrelate.
- Be conscious of the global environment.
• Recognizing that the individual is at the center of CDISC, follow personnel selection criteria and a program of professional development and mentoring to enable the individual to achieve personal and the CDISC objectives.

• CDISC mentors lavishly, internally and externally.
CDISC – Communications (integrated)

- Create a positive climate by assuming the best intentions, fostering active listening and open communications.
- Provide adequate opportunities for the exchange of ideas and information, with judicious use of appropriate communication mechanisms.
- Celebrate successes and embrace a spirit of mutual support and solidarity.
- Take time to think before acting (TEA).
- Recognize and accept that people are different and everyone’s communication style is unique and of value.
- Foster openness and a feeling of safety for human connections within the organization.
