CDISC Europe Interchange 2012
Stockholm, Sweden 16-20 April

FDA Presents at the Interchange in Stockholm!!

In an effort to continue the focus on improving global clinical research while blending with worldwide healthcare standards organizations, CDISC will be holding the annual European Interchange in Stockholm, Sweden in April 2012. The main conference sessions will be held on 18, 19 April with a large selection of CDISC education courses and workshops offered on 16, 17 and 20 April.

Registration for the conference is open through the following link:
Registration will close on 4 April 2012, register soon!

Our interchanges are not only a conference! They are opportunity to network, share ideas and experiences and meet new people from different global organizations and international entities who also have a keen interest in bringing new medicines and devices to those in need through efficient and high quality medical research.

Representatives from Various Global Organizations will present at the Interchange

FDA, C-Path, IMI, ISO and various international Biopharmaceutical, technology, CRO and academic organizations’ representatives will attend and discuss the latest CDISC developments, experiences and achievements in support of improved global healthcare and medical research. Representatives of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) will be present at the interchange, Mary Ann Slack and Chuck Cooper of FDA will be speaking on the FDA data standards requirements and the role of CDISC, presenters from the Critical Path Institute (C-Path) and the Innovative Medicines Initiative (IMI) will also be speaking on therapeutic area projects, IMI projects and their relationship with CDISC. Professor Marie Lindquist of the Uppsala Monitoring Centre will discuss the international perspectives on data standards and Lisa Spellman of the ISO will be speaking on the ISO and CDISC connectivity.

Share Experiences and Ask Questions during the Ask the Expert Session

During the two conference days, Ask the Expert sessions will be offered to everyone interested in discussing and sharing the latest achievements. You will be able to share your experiences and ask any related questions to a panel of CDISC experts representing worldwide organizations and numerous entities of the healthcare industry.
Attend our International User Groups Meetings

User Group Meetings will take place during the conference. Every year CDISC provides the opportunity for its international user networks to meet and discuss their latest achievements and future plans. Enrollment for these meetings will be offered onsite during the interchange.

Attend CDISC Education courses and Workshops: Familiarize yourself on the theory and implementation of the CDISC Standards

CDISC will offer a wide variety of educational courses and workshops on the CDISC standards throughout the interchange week. Authorized CDISC trainers and experts who come from several CDISC member organizations will be available to explain, share experiences and implementations and answer any related questions throughout the sessions. Gain an in-depth knowledge about the CDISC standards theory and application by attending one or more of these offerings! Courses and workshops will be offered on 16, 17 and 20 of April.
